

Judith Ball, M.S, CCC, is an ASHA Certified speech-language pathologist, who has held a variety of positions working with children and families across North America. Judy has taught courses in speech and language disorders and special education at both the Community College and University levels, and has been a guest lecturer at several Canadian and American Universities.

She was employed as a lecturer, at the University of Western Ontario, Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders, as a Consultant to speech-language pathologists in northern Ontario, and clinical educator of graduate students in communication disorders. She has presented at numerous professional conferences nationally and internationally, and instructs workshops internationally, for a variety of health and education professionals.

Judy is a past president of the Ontario Association of Speech-Language Pathologists and Audiologists and is a recipient of Honours of that Association. She was the 2003 recipient of the Mentorship Award of the Canadian Association of Speech-Language Pathologists and Audiologists. Judy currently maintains a private practice in speech-language pathology in London, Ontario, Canada, is a frequent guest lecturer at Western University in London, Ontario, and is an Instructor for The Hanen Centre®.